

claims 9-14 are directed to a photosensitive film; claim 15 is directed to a process for laminating a photosensitive film on a substrate; claim 16 is directed to a photosensitive resin layer laminated substrate; and claim 17 is directed to a process for curing a photosensitive resin layer laminated substrate.

Of these newly added claims, claims 9 and 10, dependent respectively on claims 1 and 2, respectively defines a film thickness of the support film (A), and defines material of the binder polymer (a). See, for example, page 6, lines 3, 4, and 17-19, of Applicants' specification. Claims 11 and 12, each dependent on claim 2, respectively defines material of the monomer (b), and defines a material for the photopolymerization initiator, consistent with the description at page 9, lines 9, 10 and 22-25; and page 10, lines 9 and 10, of Applicants' specification. Claims 13 and 14, each dependent on claim 1, respectively further defines a film thickness of the photosensitive resin layer (B), and defines the height of each fish eye, consistent with the descriptions at page 12, line 26 and page 14, lines 1 and 2, of Applicants' specification.

Claim 15 defines a process for laminating a photosensitive film on a substrate, which includes laminating the photosensitive film of claim 1 on a substrate, while removing the protective layer (C); and claim 16 defines a laminated substrate obtained by the process of claim 15. In connection with claims 15 and 16, note, for example, page 18, lines 2-5 of Applicants' specification; see also page 14, line

28 to page 15, line 5, of Applicants' specification. Claim 17 defines a process for curing a photosensitive resin layer, including exposing the photosensitive resin layer laminated substrate of claim 16 to light. In connection with claim 17, note, for example, page 18, lines 5-8 of Applicants' specification.

In view of all of the foregoing, entry of the present amendments, and examination of the above-identified application on the merits in due course, are respectfully requested.

To the extent necessary, Applicants petition for an extension of time under 37 CFR § 1.136. Respectfully submitted,
